CASCINA BERTOLOTTO

Category: Cantine
business description: Winemakers in Piedmont since 1816
Cascina Bertolotto, at an altitude of 400 meters above sea level and bordering with the Unesco heritage site of the Langhe region, is nestled among the hills where the soil has been patiently cultivated over the years by generations of farmers, who have made this soil rich and fertile. Today, under the guidance of the Galantini family, Cascina Bertolotto preserves rural and authentic qualities, combining innovation and tradition which few realities are able to boast.

This winning combination enables Cascina Bertolotto to produce wine that appears on the menus of the best Italian restaurants and in the cellars of the most demanding wine connoisseurs. This success is the result of long-standing experience handed down through the years and which continues thanks to the commitment of the Galantini family in attentively selecting the best grapes, exclusively from their own vineyards. Barbera del M.to “I Cheini” - Dolcetto d’Acqui “La Muïëtte” and “La Cresta” - La Tia (dry brachetto) - Cajarè (rosé of dry brachetto) - Surì di Bertolotto (moscato, late harvest) Overnight stays possible
